THE LAW OF DOGS.

At a general term of the Supreme Court at Oswego, in July last, an appeal was brought from a judgment of the Oncida County Court affirming that of a justice of the peace. The action was originally brought to recover damages for alleged injuries received by plaintiff's dog in a fight with a dog or dogs belonging to defendant.

Judge Allen delivered the opinion in the case, and it was concurred in by his associates on the bench, Justices Pratt and Bacon. We copy from the opinion, condens ing somewhat:

This is the first time I have been called upon to administer the law in the case of a pure dog fight, or a fight in which the dogs, instead of their owners, were the principal actors.

I am constrained to admit total ignorance of the code duello among dogs, or what constitutes a just cause of offence and justifies a resort to arms, or rather to teeth for redress. What violation of the rules of etiquette entitled the injured beast to insist upon prompt and immediate satisfaction I know not, and am glad to know that no nice question upon the conduct of the con-flict on the part of the principal actors arises in this case.

It is not claimed upon either side that the struggle was not in all respects dog-like and fair. Indeed, I was not before aware that any law, human or divine, moral or ceremonial, common or statute, un-dertook to regulate these matters, but supposed that this was one of the few privileges which this class of animals still retained in the domesticated state; that it was one of their reserved rights, not surrendered when they entered into and became a part of the domestic institution, to settle and avenge, in their own way, all individual wrongs and insults, without regard to what wrongs and insuits, without regard to what Blackstone or any other jurist might write, speak, or think of "the rights of persons" or the "rights of things." I have been a firm believer with the poet in the instruc-tion, if not semi-divine right, of dogs to fight, and with him would say—

"Let dogs delight to bark and bite, For God hath made them so," &c.

The evidence is slight that the dog died in consequence of this fight. But, as this question is left in doubt by the evidence, question is left in doubt by the evidence, the judgment of the justice is conclusive as to the cause of the death. I can, however, see no just grounds for the judgment. It can only be supported upon the broad ground that when two dogs fight and one is killed the owner can have satisfaction for his loss from the owner of the victorious dog; and I know of no such rule.—

The owner of the dead day would. I think The owner of the dead dog would, I think, be clearly entitled to the skin, though some less liberal, would be disposed to award it to the victor, and this rule would ordinarily be a fair equivalent for the loss; and with that, unless the evidence differs materially from that in this case, he should be

Love of Titles .- A well-known gentleman of Winchester, in the State of Virginia, is in the habit of relating an amusing anecdote on the great love that the Americans have for naval and military titles.— Crossing the Potemac into Virginia, with his horse, in a ferry-boat, the ferryman said, "Major, I wish you would lead your horse a little forward," which he immediately did, observing to the man, "I am not a Major, and you need not call me one."— To this the ferryman replied, "Well, Kurnel, I ax your pardon, and I'll not call you Being arrived at the land ing-place he led his horse out of the boat, and said, "Good friend, I am a very plain man, I am neither a Colonel nor a Major. I have no title at all, and I don't like the How much have I to pay you?" The fer-ryman looked at him and said, "You are the first white man I ever crossed this ferry that warn't jist nobody at all. and I swar I'll not charge you nothing."—Ex.

PEDIGREE

Messenger's sire was McKenney's Sir Henry, a very distinguished horse in Western New York, subsequently purchased by an Agricultural Society in Connecticut, and taken to that State. The sire of McKenney's Sir Henry, was Old Sir Henry, that ran the great race of four mile heats on Long Island against Eclipse, beating him the first heat in the then unprecedented time of seven minutes, thirty-seven and a half seconds. See TurfRegister. Messenger's dam was sired by Fox's Duroc, and he descended from Old Duroc the sire of Eclipse; the dam of Fox's Duroc was sired by Hind's Old Patriot.—The grand dam of Messenger was sired by the celebrated Morgan Messenger. Thus it will be seen that while Messenger is descended in the direct line of his sire from Sir Henry and Sir Archey, he unites on the side of the dam the two distinguished strains of Eclipse and Mergan.

"Sir: I have great estisfaction in assuring you that myself and family have been very much beenfield by your medicines. My wile was cured, two years since, of a severe and dangerous cough, by your Chesary Factorsat, and since then has enjoyed perfect health. My children energe and Croup by it. It is an invaluable remedy for these complaints. Your Carparatro Pills have entirely cured me from a dyspepsia and contiveness, which has grown upon me for some years,—indeed, this cure is much more important, from the fact that I had failed to get relief from the best Physicians which this section of the country affords, and from any of the numerous remedies I had taken.

"You seem to us, Doctor, like a providential blessing to our family, and you may well suppose we are not unindful of it. Xours respectfully TT THATTER."
